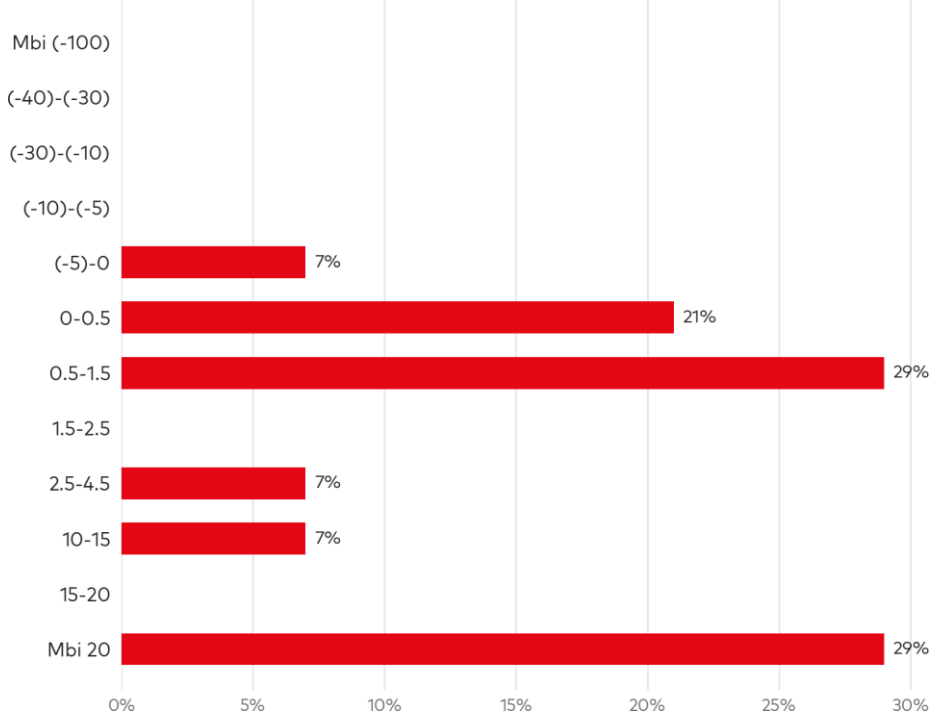
2. Graphical presentation of the economic result and the value of fixed assets

2.1. Distribution of AVMSPs by economic result

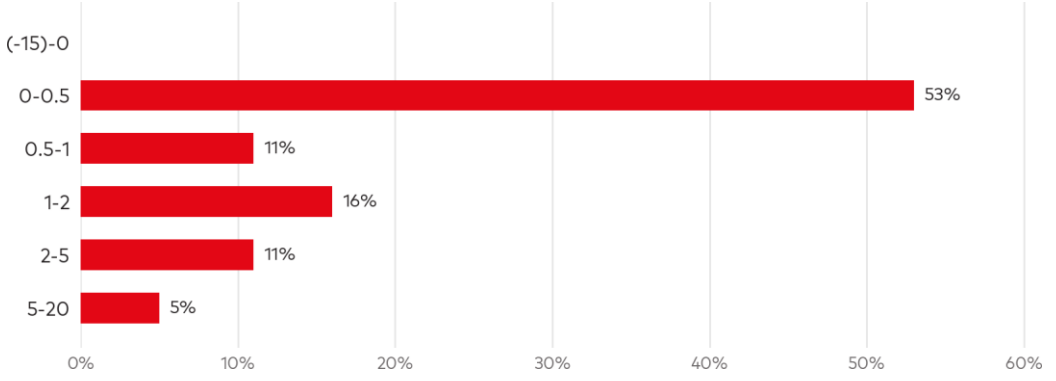
Distribution of television operators by economic result

Distribution of television operators by economic result: The majority of television operators fall within the positive profit brackets, with the “0.5-1.5” and “Above 20” brackets each accounting for 29%, while the “0-0.5” bracket accounts for 21%. Loss-making brackets are minimal (only 7% in the -5 to 0 bracket).



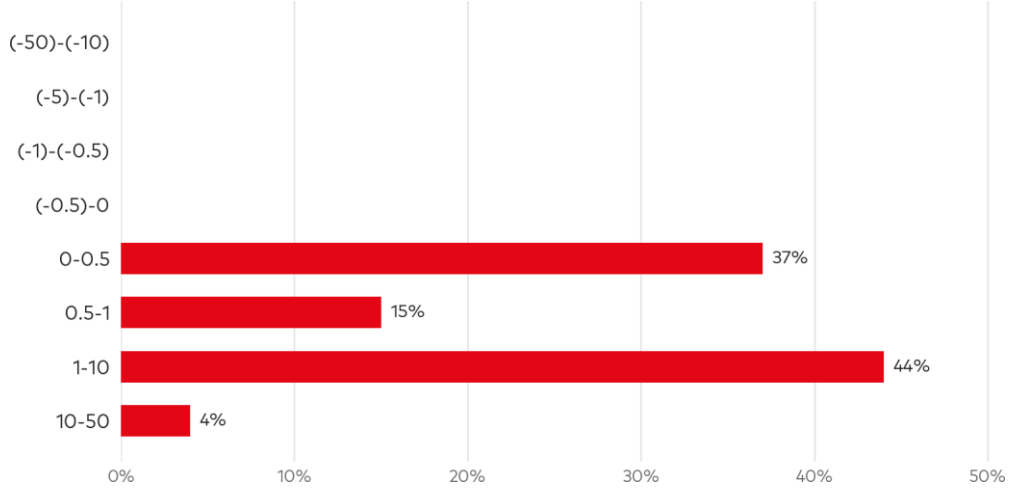
Distribution of radio operators by economic result

More than half of radio operators (53%) fall within the lowest positive profit bracket, “0-0.5”. The remainder is distributed across the “1-2” (16%), “0.5-1” (11%), “2-5” (11%) brackets, while only 5% reach the “5-20” bracket.



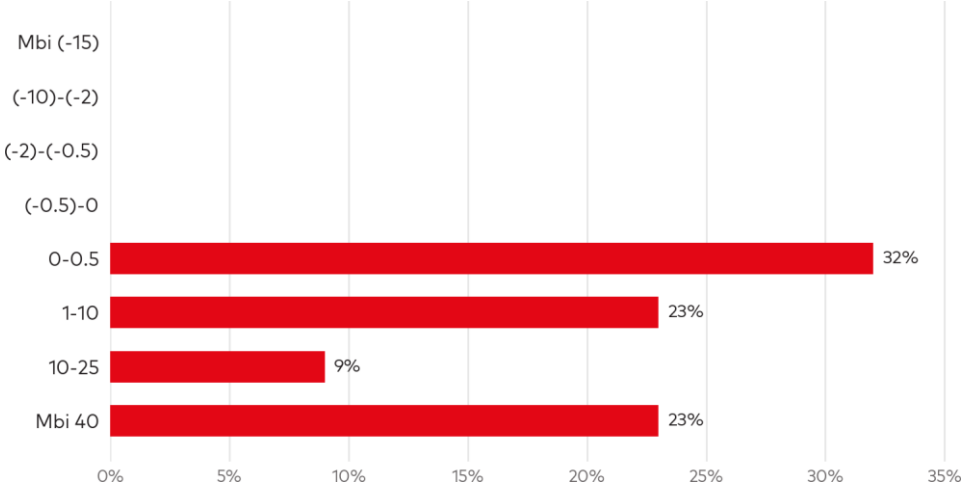
Distribution of cable operators by economic result

- Cable operators are concentrated mainly in two financial brackets: 44% fall within the “1-10” profit bracket, while 37% are in the “0-0.5” bracket. The “0.5-1” bracket accounts for 15% of the market, while only 4% of entitites achieve higher profit levels in the “10-50” bracket.



Distribution of other services operators by economic result

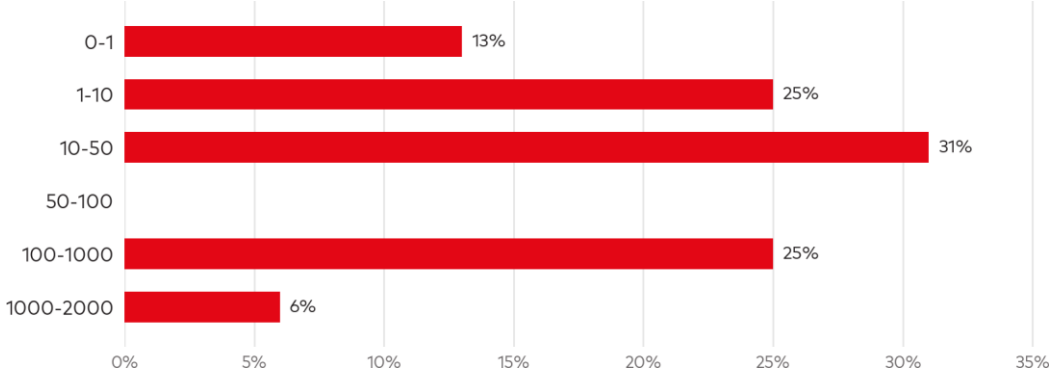
- This category exhibits a more diverse distribution. The largest concentration is in the low-profit “0-0.5” bracket, accounting for 32% of operators. However, there is also a significant presence in the higher brackets, with the “1-10” and “Above 40” brackets each accounting for 23%, while the “10-25” bracket includes 9% of operators.



2.2. Distribution of AVMSPs by fixed assets

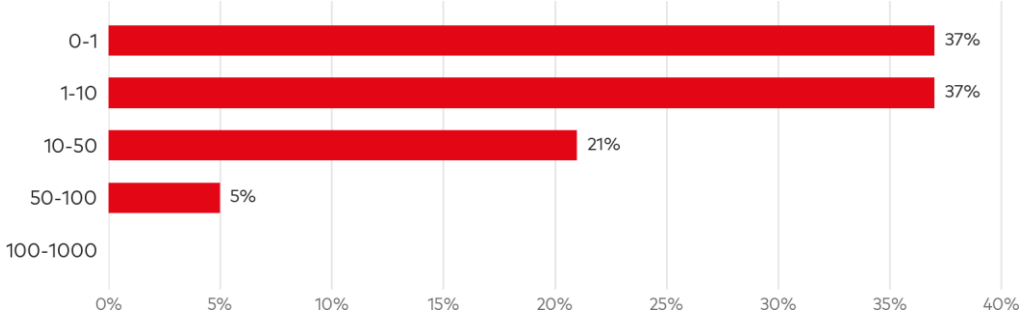
Distribution of television operators by value of fixed assets

- The asset structure in the television sector indicates substantial capital investment. The main bracket is “10-50”, accounting for 31% of operators, followed by the “1-10” and “100-1000” brackets, each accounting for 25%. The lower value “0-1” bracket accounts for 13%, while 6% of operators hold considerably higher fixed assets in the “1000-2000” bracket.



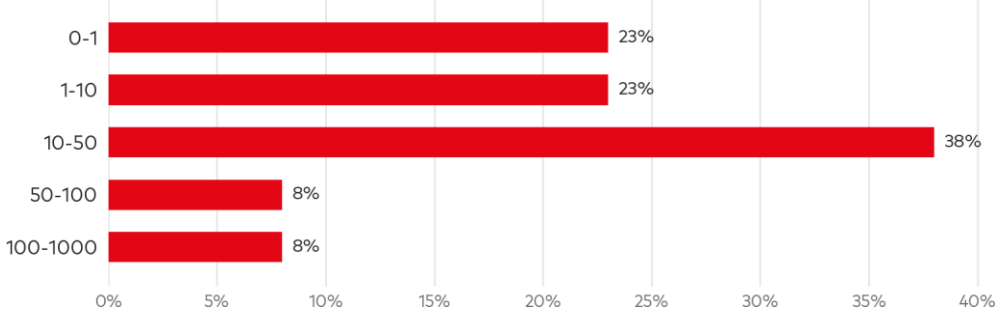
Distribution of radio operators by value of fixed assets

- The radio sector is characterized by lighter infrastructure and lower asset values. 37% of radio operators fall within the “0-1” bracket and another 37% within the “1-10” bracket. The “10-50” bracket includes 21% of radio operators, while only 5% reach the “50-100” bracket.



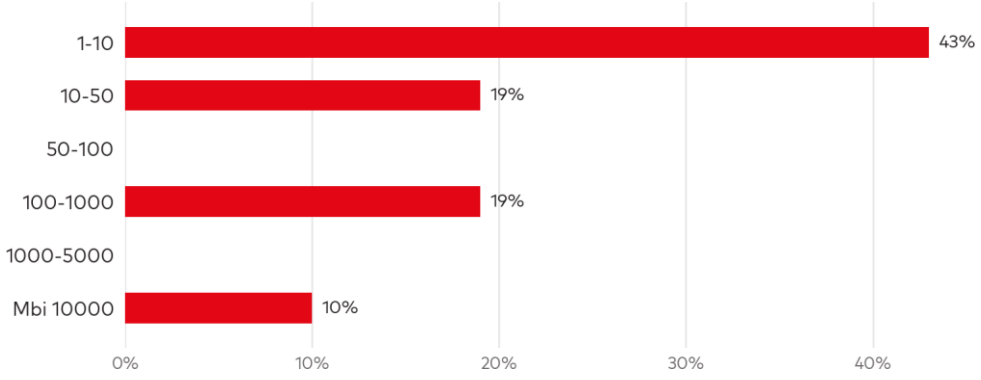
Distribution of cable operators by value of fixed assets

The main concentration of assets among cable operators is in the “10-50” range, accounting for 38%. The lower ranges, “0-1” and “1-10”, each account for 23% of the operators. Meanwhile, the higher asset ranges, “50-100” and “100-1000”, each represent 8%.



Distribution of other services operators by value of fixed assets

- In this category, the dominant fixed asset range is “1-10”, accounting for 43% of the operators. The “10-50” and “100-1000” ranges each account for 19%, while 10% of the operators stand out for their very large capacities, with assets “Above 10000”.



II. Ownership in the audiovisual sector and non-market contribution

3. Transparency of AVMSPs

3.1. Ownership structure in the audiovisual market

Further approxiamtion of our legislation to that of the European Union. In the context of fulfilling the periodic obligations to align domestic legislation with the EU acquis in the field of audiovisual media and the obligations undertaken by the AMA under the National Plan for European Integration (NPEI) 2024-2025, the Authority approved, by Decision No.40, dated 26.04.2024, the regulation “On the Criteria and Procedures for Reviewing Changes in the Ownership Structure and the Transparency of Data Related to the Ownership of AVMSPs”. This important secondary legal act specifically addresses Transparency in the Ownership Structure and the Disclosure of Other Data Related to the licence/authorisation by AVMSPs, thereby achieving an initial approximation of the Regulation with the provisions of the European Media Freedom Act (EMFA), as well as the transposition of EU Directive 2018/1808. The Regulation, which is strictly implemented by the AMA’s structures, introduces innovations with regard to: The review by the AMA of changes in the ownership structure within the same legal entity that is an AVMSP and holds a licence/authorisation; The review of changes in the ownership structure between private legal entities that are AVMSPs, in cases of entering into civil legal relationships that entail the assignment or transfer of rights arising from the licence/authorisation; The disclosure of information on the composition of the ownership structure of the legal entity that is an AVMSP and holds a licence/authorisation from the AMA, including the beneficial owner; Increased transparency regarding the origin of funding sources for commercial transactions involving the media company’s capital by a partner/shareholder; Disclosure by owners of any potential conflict of interest that affects the activity of the AVMSP; Disclosure of income from advertising, donations, sponsorships, etc., received by the beneficial owner from public legal entities for media promotion purposes, etc.

Currently, beyond the legal framework, the AMA has prepared and graphically presented on its website, (), the declaration and transparency of the ownership structure of companies/individuals holding a licence/authorisation from the AMA, as well as the declaration of the beneficial owner of these entities carrying out audio and audiovisual activities in the Republic of Albania, thereby fulfilling one of the key obligations of the European Integration process. The database presented graphically is a model selected from among European regulators, specifically the Portuguese regulator.

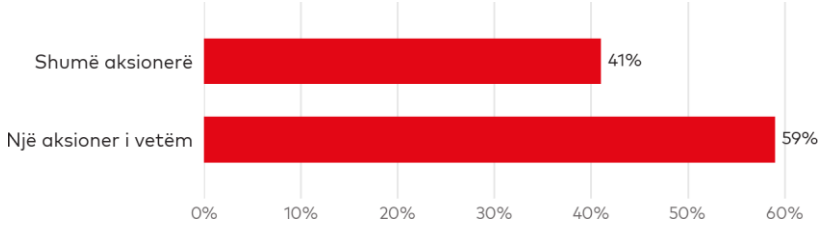
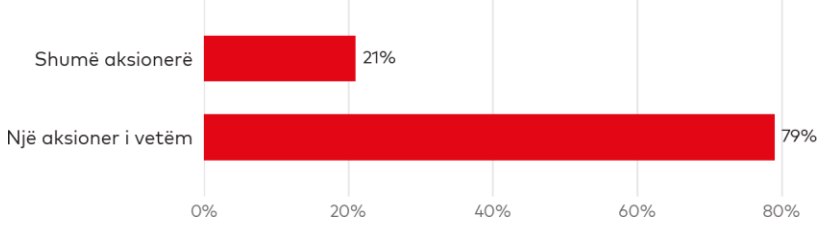
Ownership structure – Television Operators

- More than half of television operators (59%) are owned by a single shareholder (individual ownership), while 41% have a multi-shareholder ownership structure.



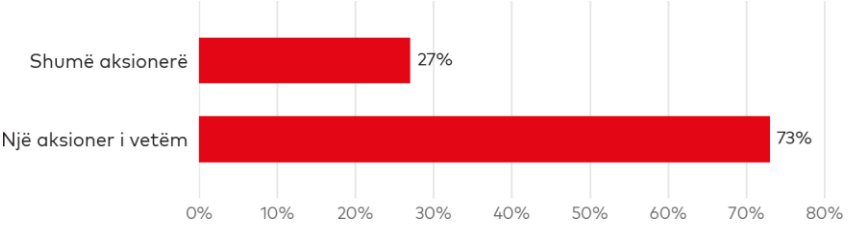
Ownership structure – Radio Operators

- This category shows the highest concentration of ownership in the hands of a single individual, with 79% of radio operators owned by a single shareholder and only 21% having a multi-shareholder ownership structure.



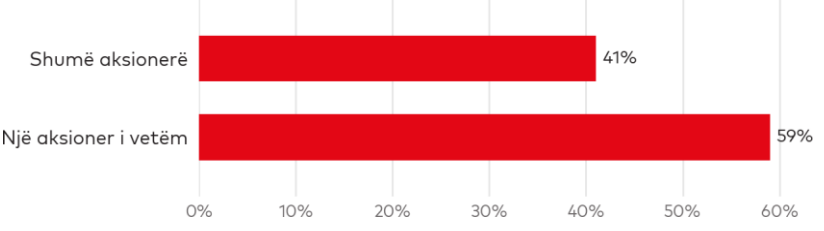
Ownership structure – Cable Operators

- Among cable operators, single-shareholder ownership also predominates, with 73% owned by a single shareholder and 27% having a multi-shareholder ownership structure.



Ownership structure – Other Service Operators

- They exhibit the same distribution as television operators: 59% of operators have a single shareholder, while 41% have multiple shareholders.



3.2. Concentration of AVMSP contributors in different industry sectors

The following charts present data on owners and shareholders who have invested in the audio and audiovisual market and are also engaged in business activities in other industry sectors, according to INSTAT classifications, such as agriculture, forestry and fishing; mining and quarrying; manufacturing; electricity, gas, steam and air conditioning supply; water supply, waste treatment and waste management activities; construction; wholesale and retail trade; repair of motor vehicles and bicycles; transportation, storage and telecommunications; accommodation and food service activities; hotels and restaurants; information and communication; financial and insurance activities; education; real estate activities, etc.

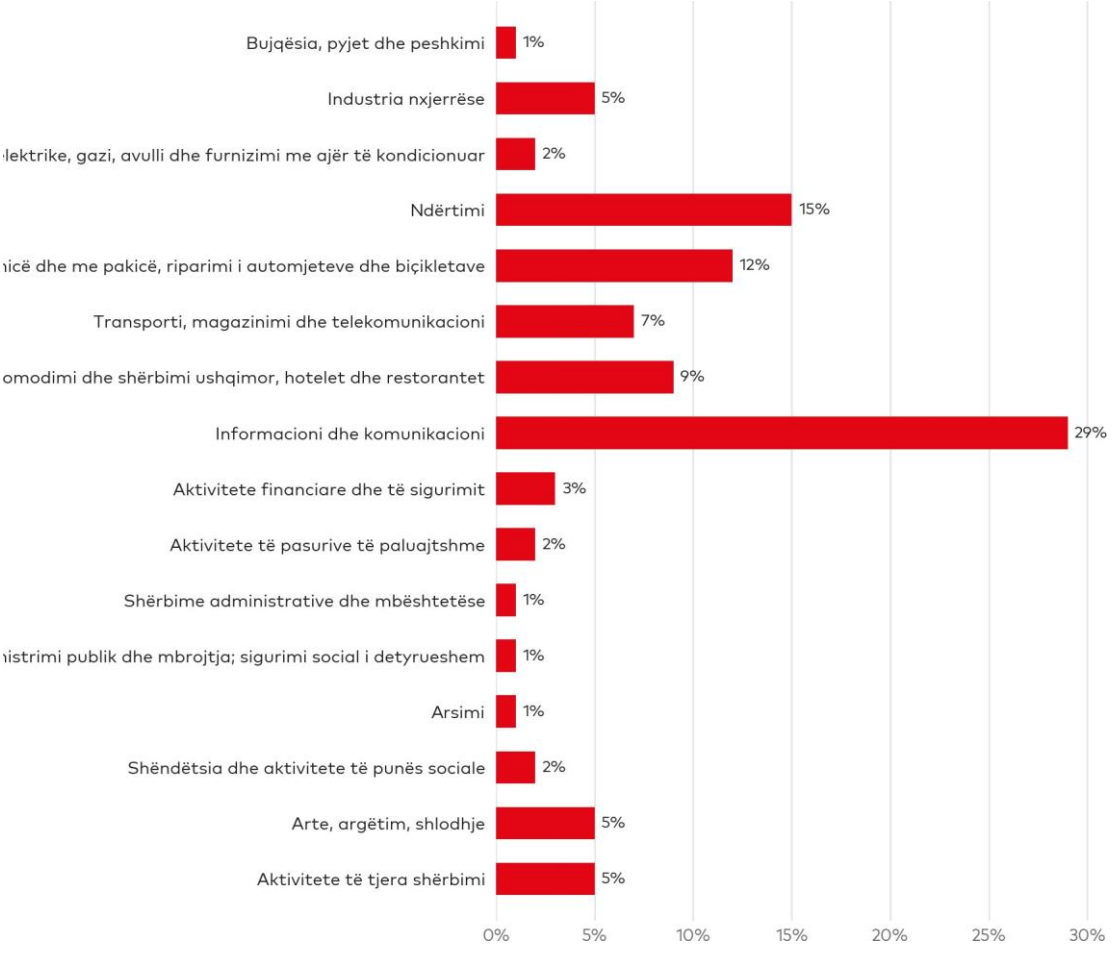
Television Operators

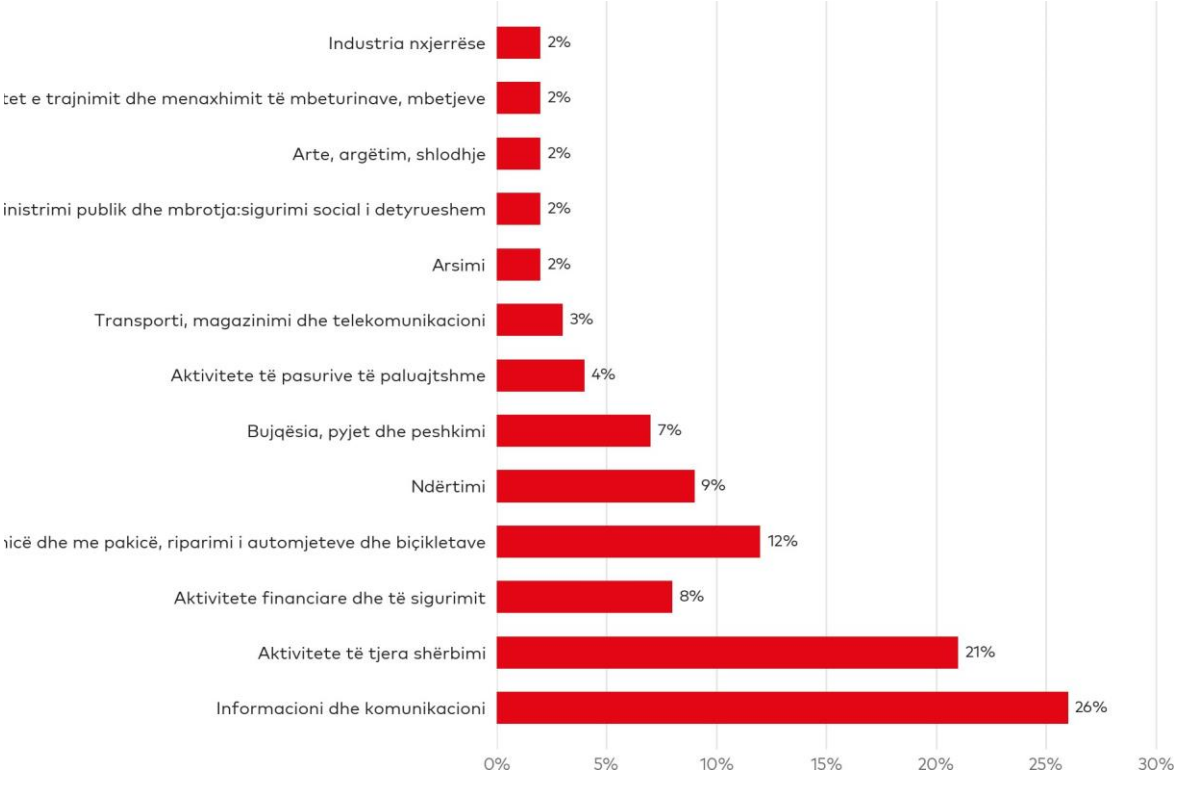
The data are based on the infromation from the NBC (National Business Center).

The sector accounting for the largest share in the economic distribution is Information and Communication, at 29%, followed by Construction at 15% and Trade at 12%. Services such as Accommodation and Food Service Activities, Transportation, and Mining and Quarrying account for moderate percentages. Meanwhile, sectors such as Education, Healthcare, Public Administration and Agriculture have minimal shares of only 1-2%.



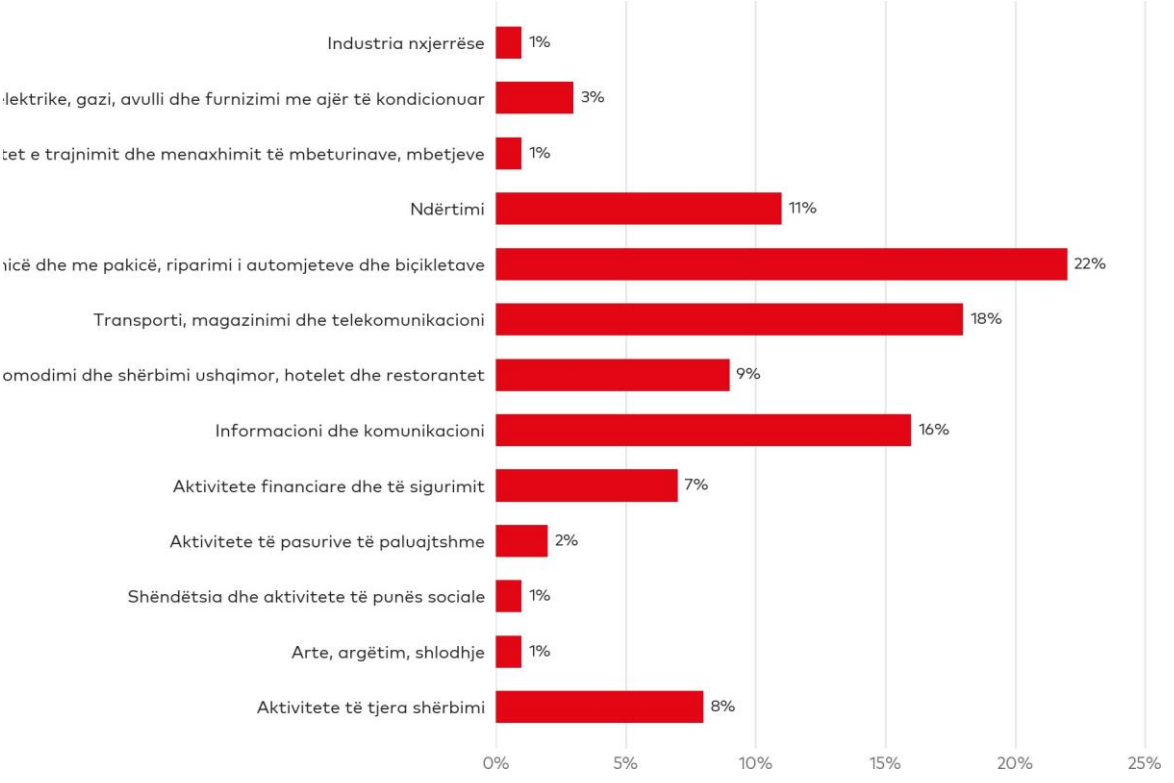
Radio Operators

Among audio operators, the most dominant sector is wholesale and retail trade at 20%, followed by transportation and communication and information and communication, both at 19%. Construction accounts for a considerable share at 10%, while the other sectors have lower participation rates, ranging from 1% to 8%



Cable Operators

According to the chart below, the largest constribution in this group comes from wholesale and retail trade, which represents the largest sector at 22%, followed by transportation and communication at 18% and information and communication at 16%. Construction accounts for a significant share at 11%, while the other sectors, such as energy, finance and various services, range from 1% to 9%.



Other Services Operators

The largest contribution among this group of AVMSPs is oriented towards information and communication, at 40%. Meanwhile, a distribution across the real estate activities, wholesale and retail trade, and other service activities sectors can be observed.

III. Characteristics of personnel employed by AVMSPs

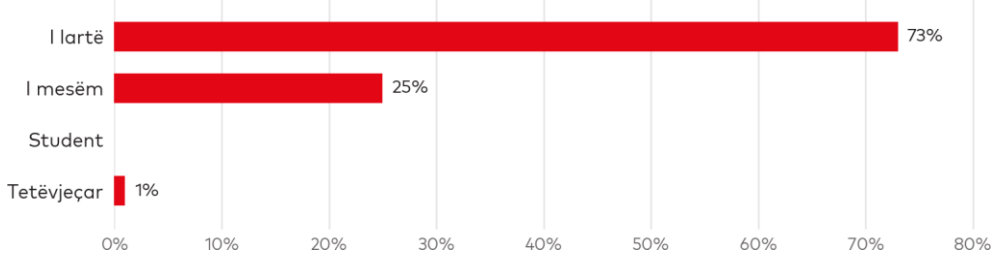
4. Staff structure by education level, age, length of service, gender, and profession

This section presents some of the key indicators of staff composition, as well as analysis of staff-related costs in relation to the revenues and expenditures of AVMSPs. The following data are based on self-reported declarations submitted by audio and audiovisual service providers to the relevant institutions.

4.1. Education level of employees

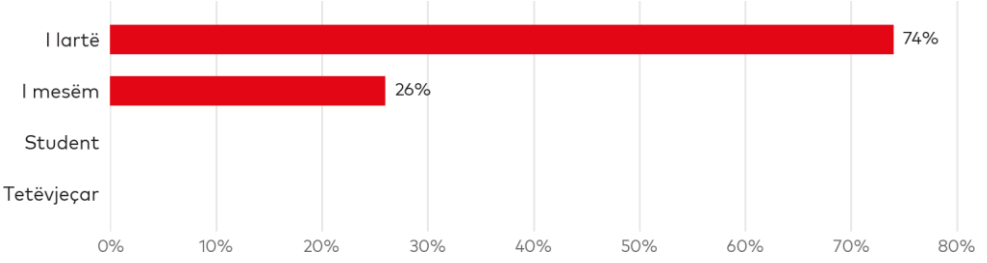
Education level of employees – Television Operators

The television workforce is highly qualified: 73% of employees have a higher education degree, 25% have completed secondary education, while only 1% have completed eight years of schooling.



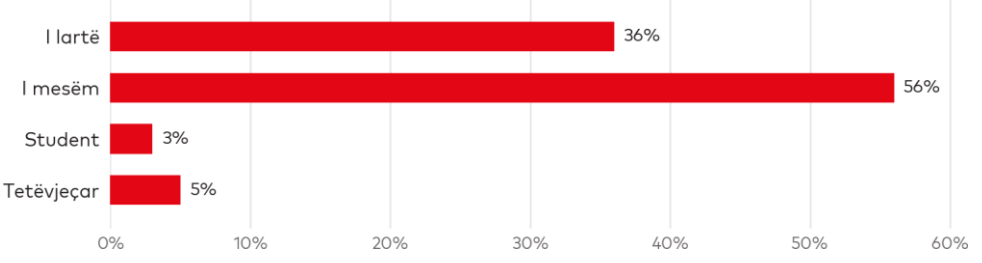
Education level of employees – Radio Operators

- They also demonstrate a high level of educational attainment, with 74% of employees having completed higher education and 26% having completed secondary education.



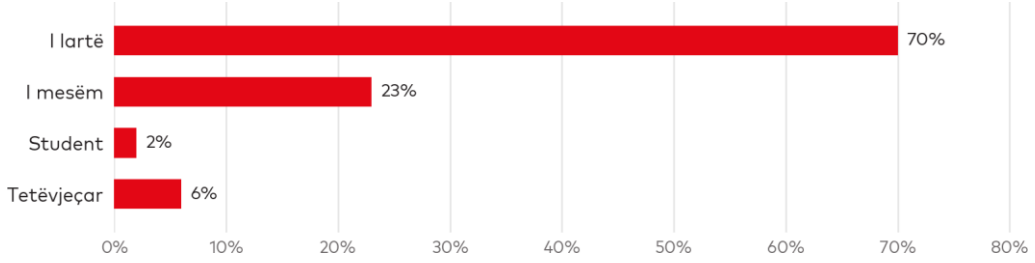
Education level of employees – Cable Operators

Due to the more technical nature of the work, employees with secondary education account for the largest share at 56%. Those with higher education account for 36%, while employees with eight of schooling represent 5%, and students make up 3% of the workforce.



Educaton level of employees – Other Service Operators

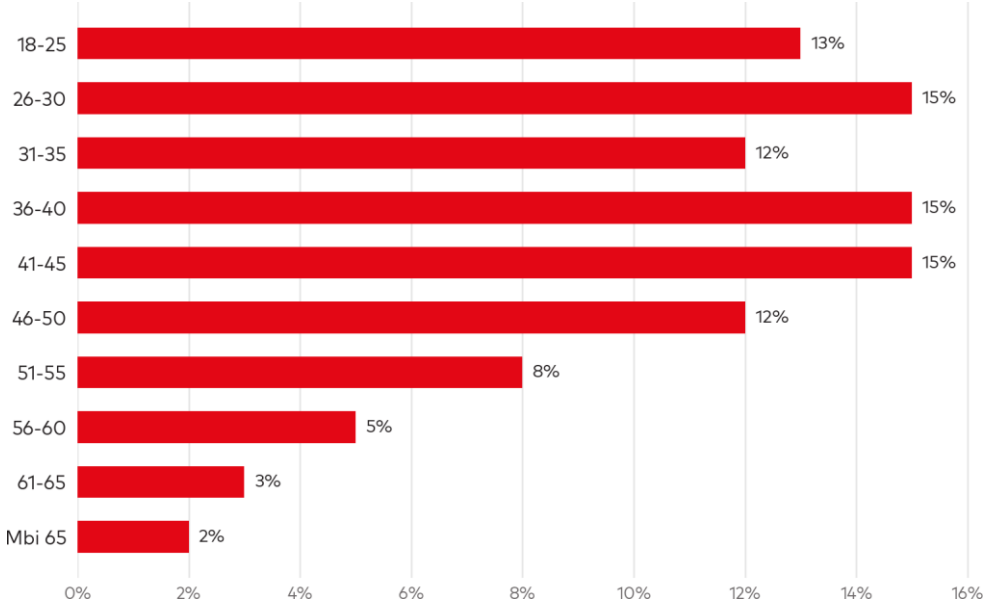
- 70% of employees have higher education, 23% have secondary education, 6% have completed eight years of schooling, and 2% are still students.



4.2. Age

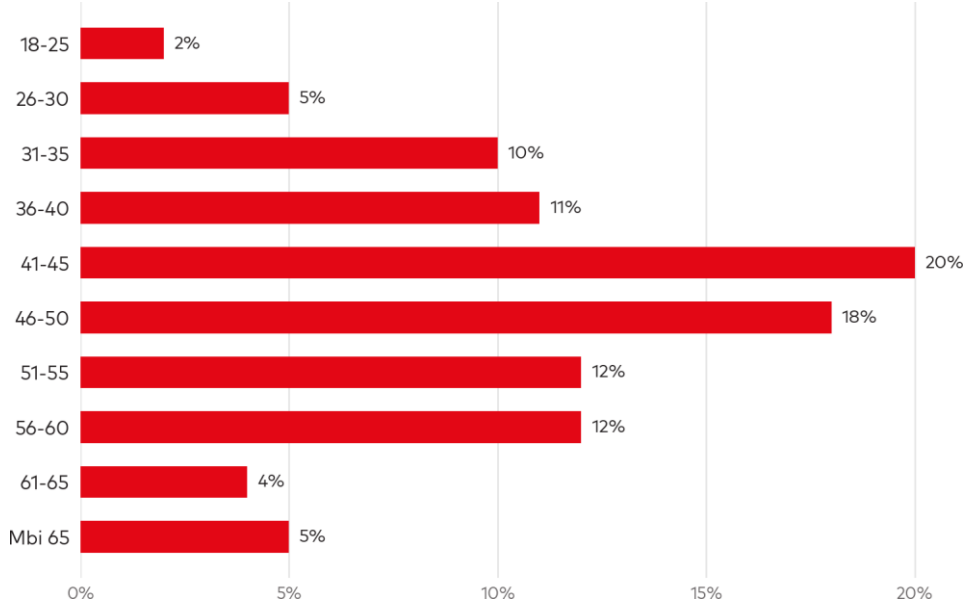
Age of employees – Television Operators

- The workforce is relatively evenly distributed across the main working-age groups, with empolyees aged 26-30, 36-40, and 41-45 each accounting for 15%. Those aged 18-25 and 31-35 represent 13% and 12%, respectively, while employees over 55 account for 10%.



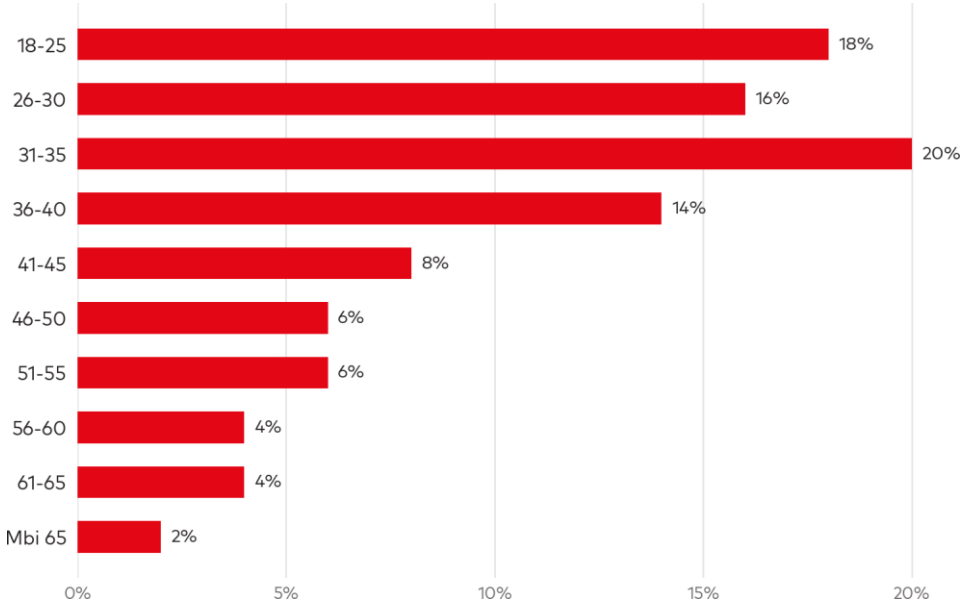
Age of employees – Radio Operators

- They have the oldest workforce overall. The largest age groups are 41-45 (20%) and 46-50 (18%), followed by those aged 36-40 (11%) and 31-35 (10%). Employees over 55 account for 21%.



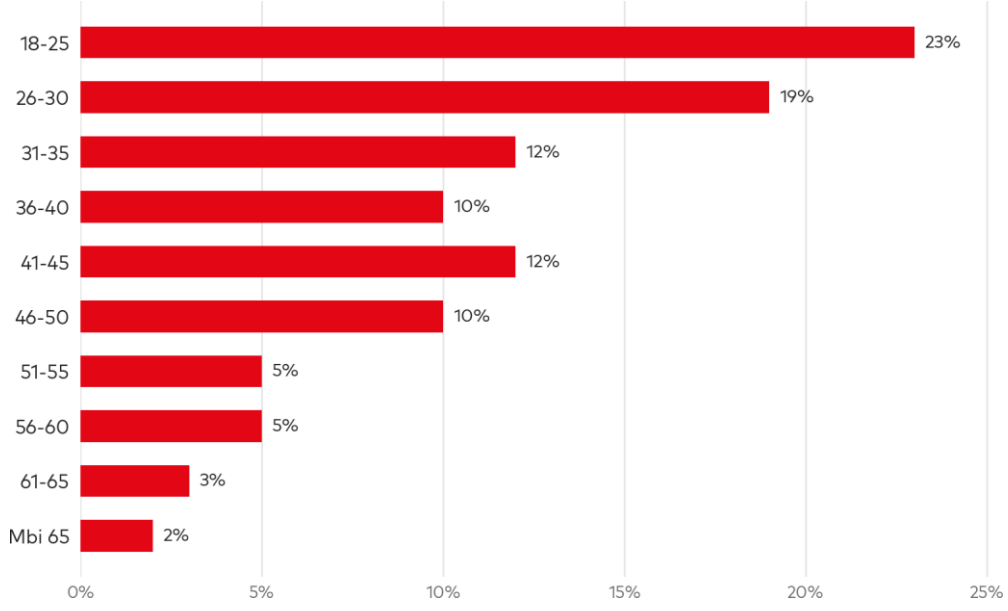
Age of employees – Cable Operators

The workforce has a younger age profile, with employees aged 31-35 accounting for the largest share (20%), followed by those aged 18-25 (18%) and 26-30 (16%).



Age of employees – Other Services Operators

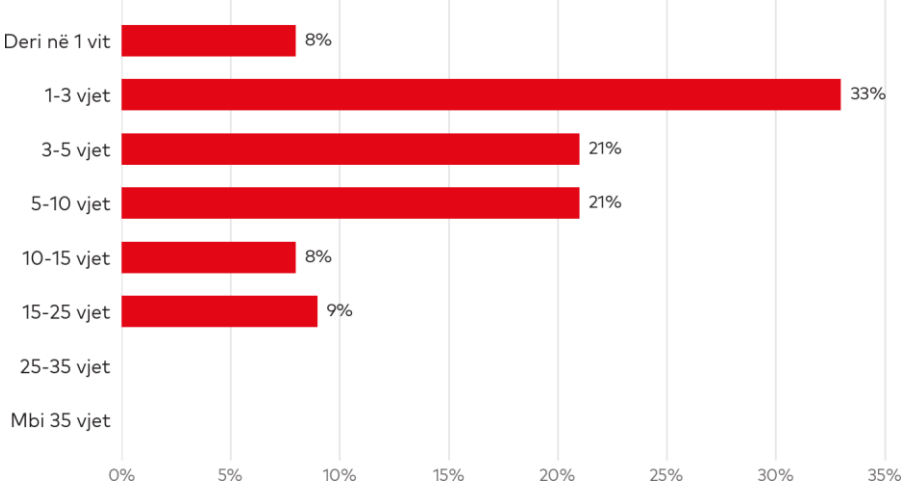
- It is characterized by the youngest workforce, with employees in the early stages of their careers: those aged 18-25 account for 23%, while those aged 26-30 represent 19%.



4.3. Length of service

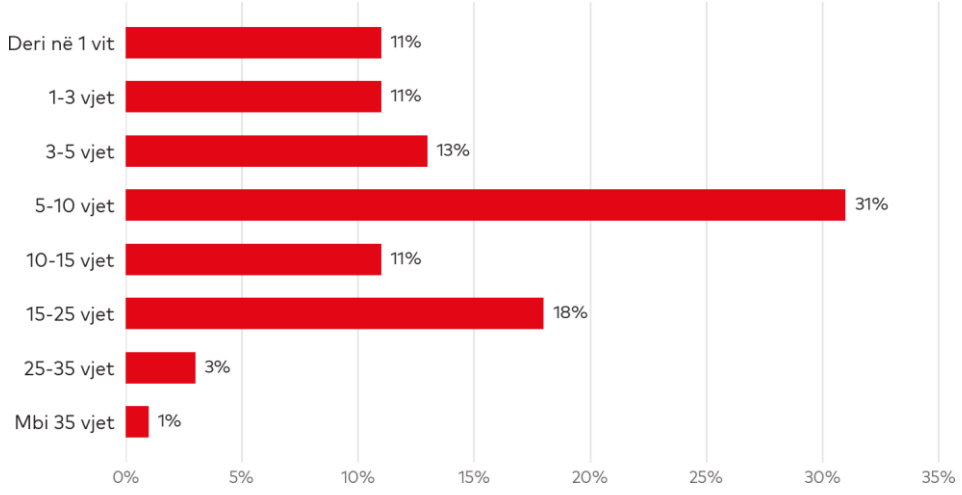
Length of service – Television Operators

- The majority of employees have a moderate length of service within the company: 33% have been with the company for 1-3 years, 21% for 3-5 years, and 21% for 5-10 years.



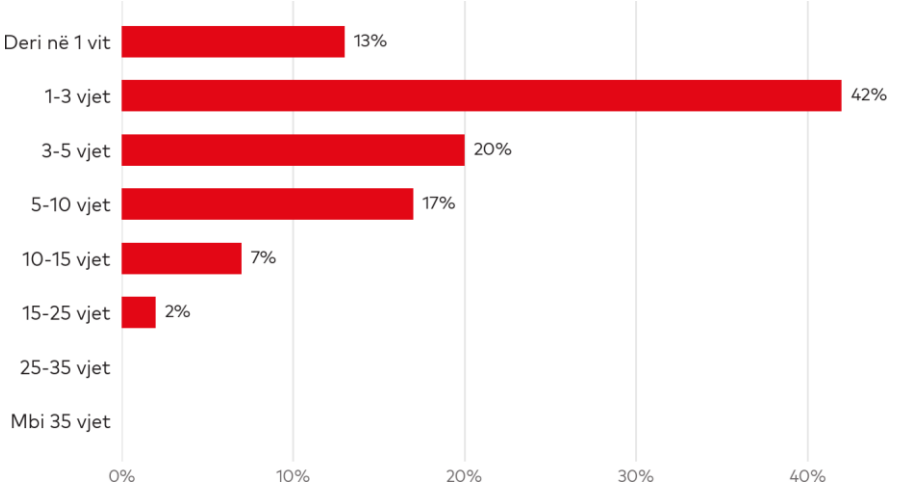
Length of service – Radio Operators

- They demonstrate the highest level of staff retention. 31% of employees have 5-10 years of service, while 18% have 15-25 years. The remaining tenure groups are 1-3 years (11%), 3-5 years (13%), and 10-15 years (11%).



Length of service – Cable Operators

- 42% of employees have 1-3 years of service, 20% have 3-5 years, and 13% are in their first year of employment (up to 1 year).



Length of service – Other Services Operators

- 23% of employees have 1-3 years of service, while 19% have 5-10 years. The other groups include employees with 3-5 years of service (14%) and 10-15 years (11%).

4.5. Gender assessment of participation in broadcast audiovisual content

Audiovisual media service providers include in their programming schedules shows or segments that are broadcast daily, once or several times a week, or less frequently. Some of these also have a seasonal nature, being aired during a specific period of the year, depending on their thematic focus and target audience.

The following section presents the participation of women and men in various programs, divided into two categories: host and guests.

The defined time sample is the broadcast period 16.12.2025 – 22.12.2025.

The assessment was conducted across 12 audiovisual media service providers, including national and local/regional broadcasters, specifically RTSH1, Klan, Top Channel, Vizion Plus, News 24, Ora News, ABC News, Report TV, Fax News, A2/CNN, EuroNews Albania, and Syri TV.

The data presented, in both absolute numbers and percentages, quantitatively identify the program hosts and guests for each media service provider, indicating the number of male and female participations in each category.

The results of the assessed sample reflect, both for each audiovisual media service provider individually and overall, a trend towards greater inclusion of both genders on screen. Gender does not appear to constitute a barrier or give rise to prejudice, either for those assigned the role of program host or for those invited to share their thoughts and opinions when discussing the topics and issues that the audiovisual media sercive provider chooses to highlight.

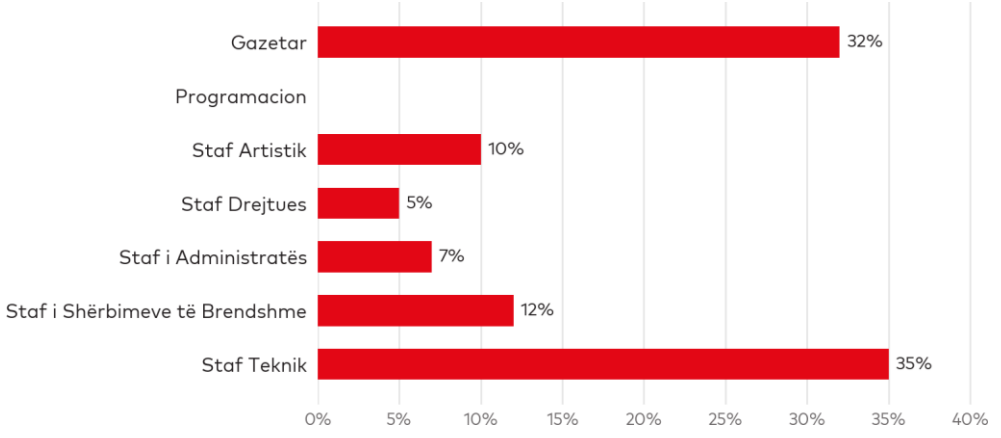
4.6. Structure by profession

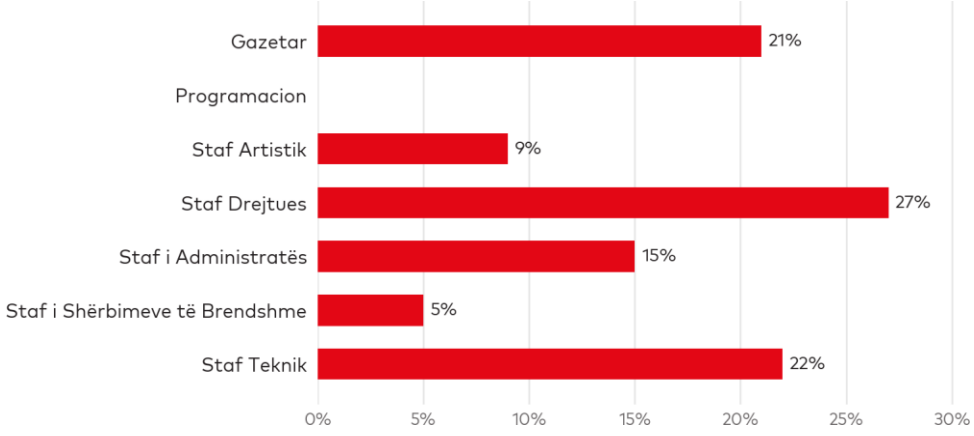
Staff composition by profession (%) – Television Operators

- They rely heavily on technical staff (35%) and journalists (32%). Internal services staff account for 12%, artistic staff for 10%, administrative staff for 7%, and management staff for 5%.



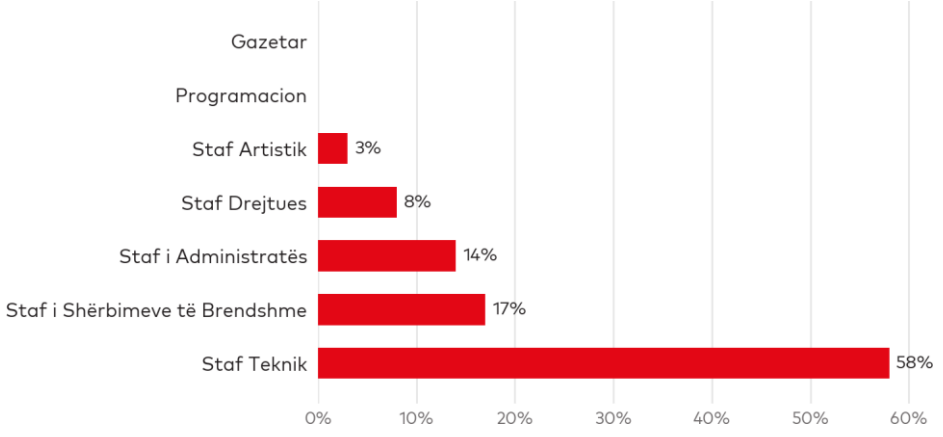
Staff composition by profession (%) – Radio Operators

- They are characterized by a management-heavy organizational structure: management staff account for 27%, followed by technical staff (22%), journalists (21%), administrative staff (15%), artistic staff (9%), and internal services staff (5%).



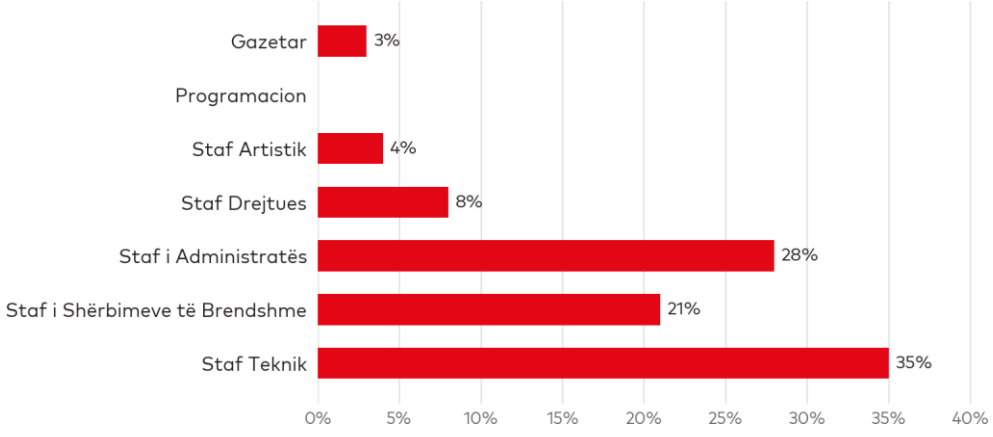
Staff composition by profession (%) –Cable Operators

- They are dominated by technical operational functions, which account for 58% of the workforce. Internal services represent 17%, administrative staff 14%, management staff 8%, and artistic staff 3%.



Staff composition by profession (%) – Other Services Operators

- Other Services: The workforce comprises technical staff (35%), administrative staff (28%), internal services staff (21%), management staff (8%), artistic staff (4%), and journalists (3%).

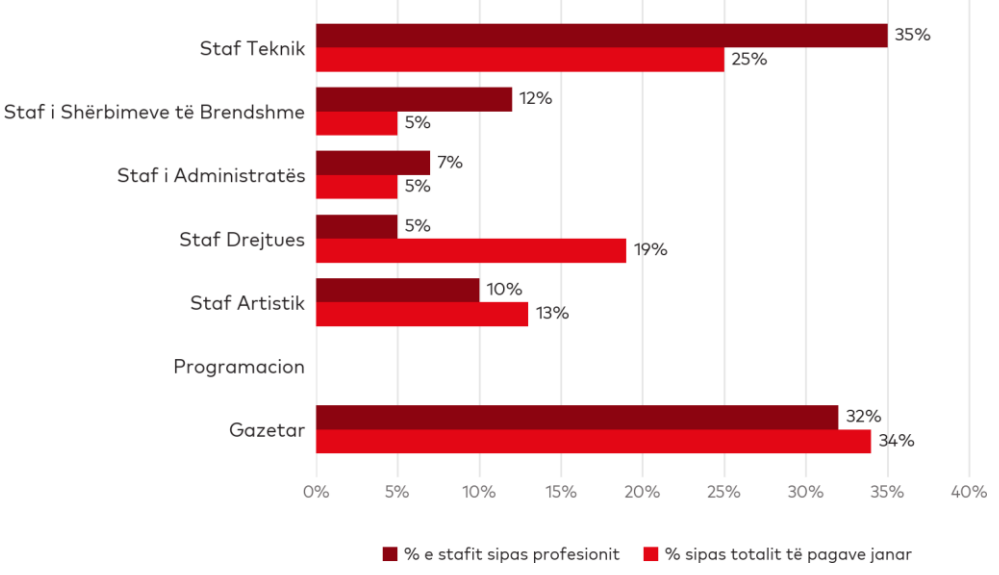


5. Personnel costs in relation to revenue and expenditure

5.1. Gross salary structure by staff profession

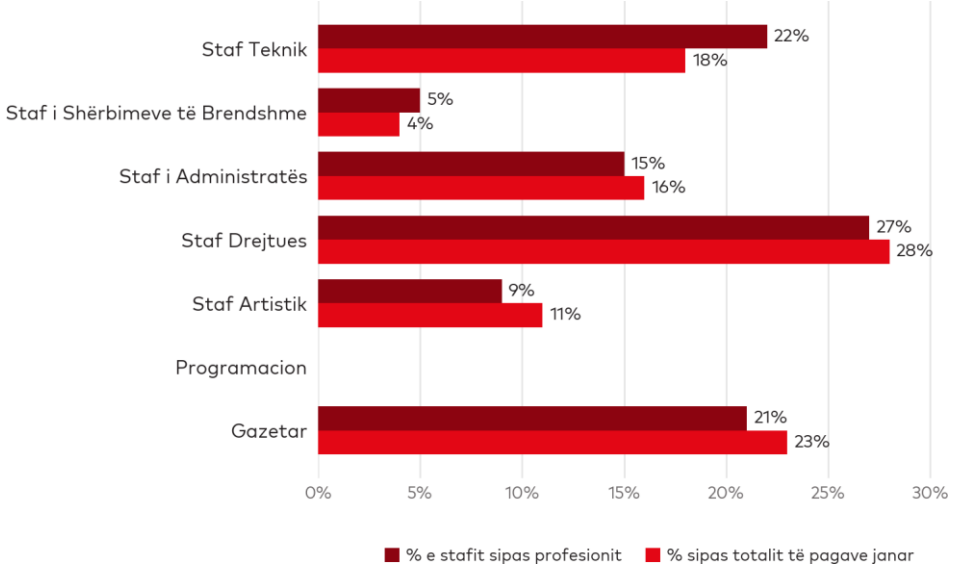
Gross salary structure by staff profession – Television Operators

- Television: Journalists receive the largest share of the salary budget (34%), accounting for 32% of the total workforce. Technical staff receive 25% of the salary budget while representing 35% of employees. Management staff account for 19% of the salary budget, despite representing only 5% of the total workforce.



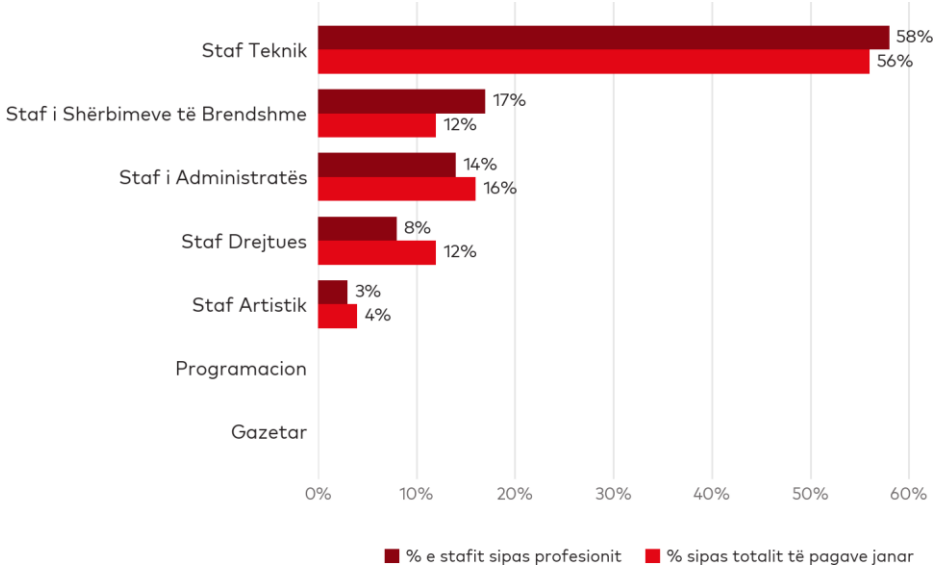
Gross salary structure by staff profession – Radio Operators

- Radio: The salary budget largely reflects the number of employees in each category: management staff receive 28% of the budget (representing 27% of the workforce), journalists receive 23% (representing 21% of the workforce), and technical staff receive 18% (representing 22% of the workforce).



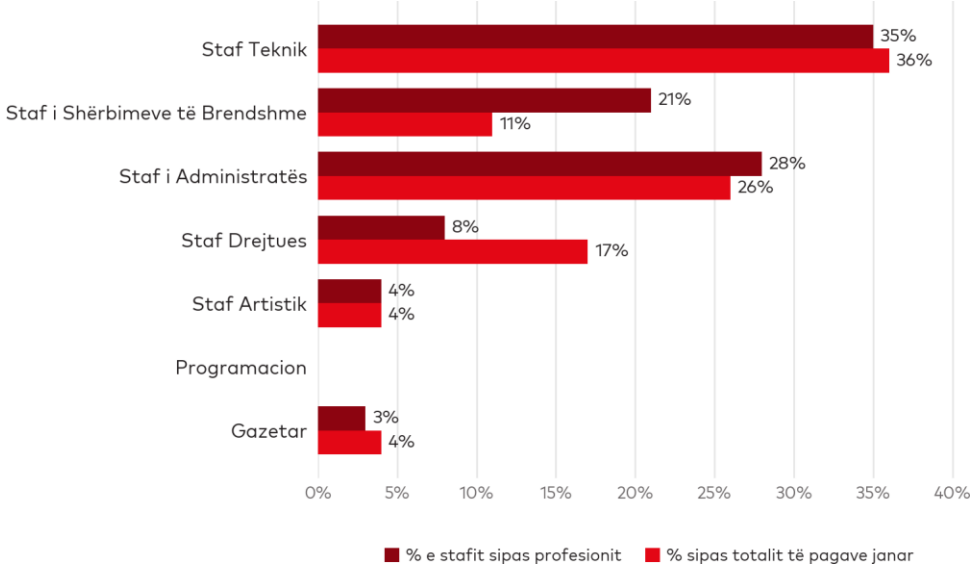
Gross salary structure by staff profession – Cable Operators

- Cable Operators: 56% of the salary budget is allocated to technical staff, who account for 58% of the workforce. Administrative staff receive 16% of the budget (representing 14% of employees), while management staff receive 12% of the budget (representing 8% of the workforce).



Gross salary structure by staff profession – Other Services Operators

- Other Services Operators: Technical staff receive 36% of the salary budget (representing 35% of the workforce), administrative staff receive 26% of the budget (representing 28% of the workforce), while management staff receive 17% of the total salary budget, despite accounting for only 8% of the workforce.



5.3. Concentration of AVMSP personnel by salary level

Staff concentration by salary level – Television Operators

- Television: The main concentration of salaries falls within the mid-range brackets: 23% of employees earn 40,001-60,000, 20% earn 60,001-80,000, and 12% earn 80,001-100,000. The lowest salary bracket, “Up to 40,000,” accounts for 1% to 6% of employees, while the highest salary bracket, “Above 1,500,000,” applies to only 1% of employees.

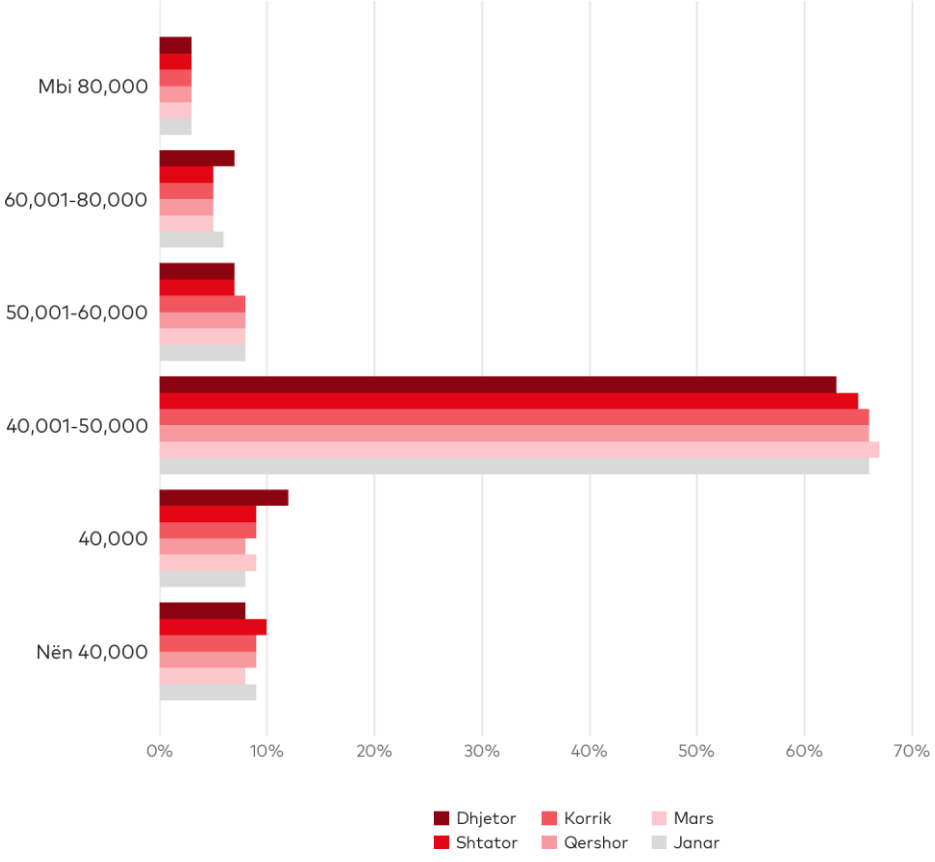
Staff concentration by salary level – Cable Operators

- Cable Operators: They are characterized by a more uniform salary structure and lower labor costs: 63%-67% of employees are paid within the “40,001-50,000” bracket. Only 3% of staff earn salaries above 80,000.



Staff concentration by salary level – Other Services Operators

- Other Services Operators: They show a higher concentration of employees in above-average salary brackets: in December, 24% of staff earned 100,001-160,000, 20% earned 40,001-60,000, and 14% earned 60,001-80,000.

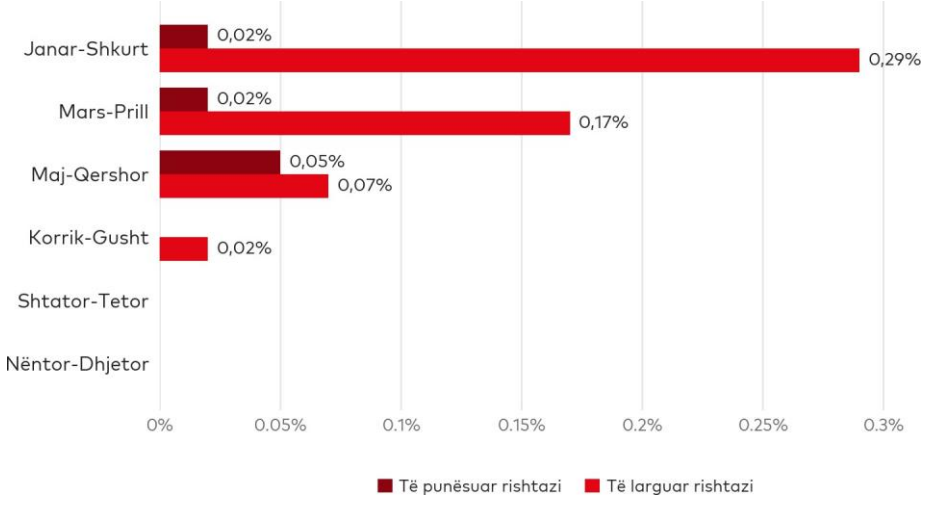
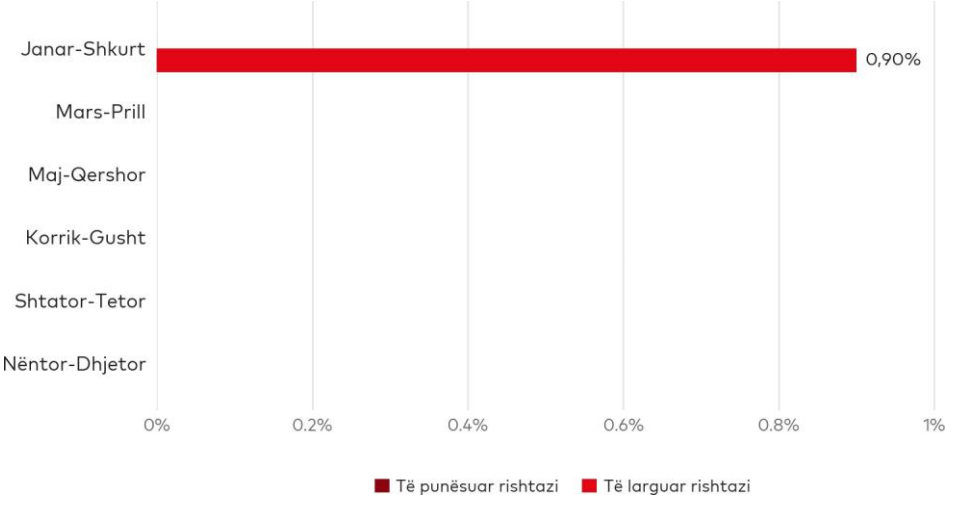
% staff turnover – Television Operators

- Television: It demonstrates a very high level of workforce stability throughout the year. The highest employee turnover rate was only 0.29% during the January-February period, while the highest recruitment rate reached 0.05% in May-June.



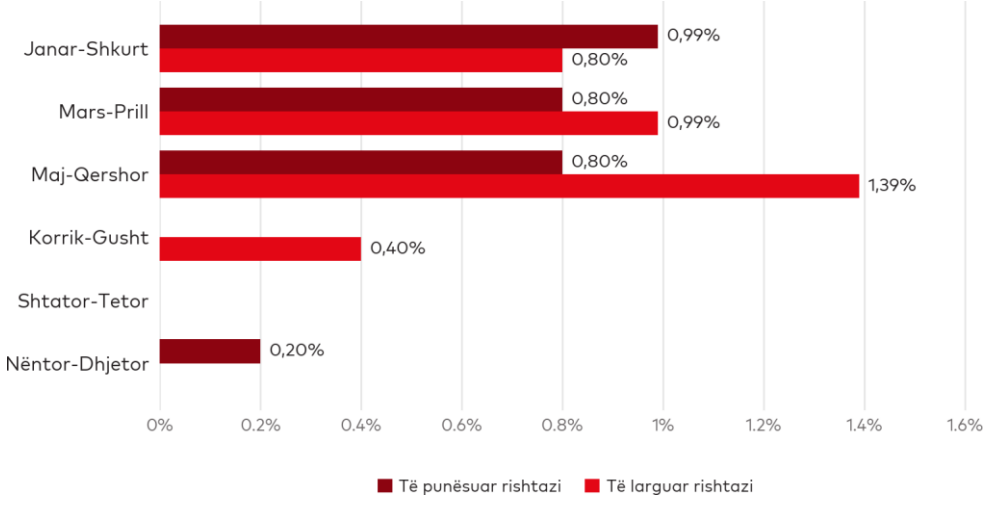
% staff turnover – Radio Operators

- Radio: There were no new hires throughout the year. The only recorded movement was a staff departure rate of 0.90% during the January-February period.



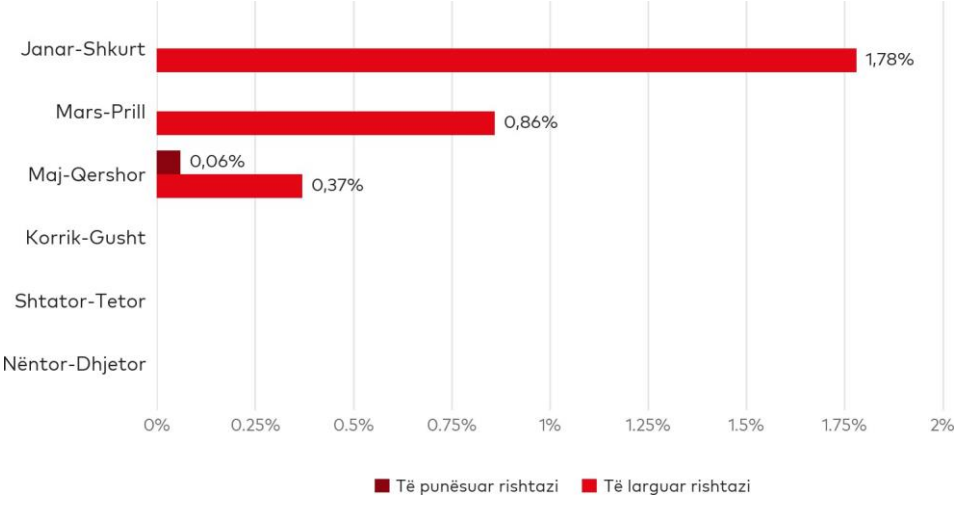
% staff turnover – Cable Operators

- Cable Operators: They exhibit greater dynamism in workforce movements: the highest hiring rate occured in January-February (0.99%), while the highest staff turnover rate reached 1.39% in May-June.



% staff turnover – Other Services Operators

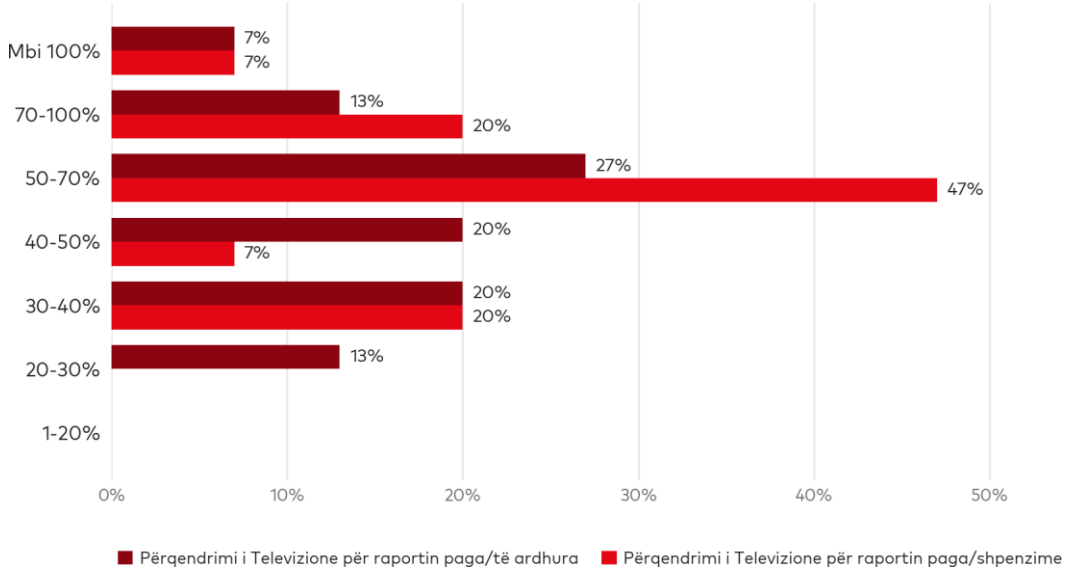
- Other Services Operators: They recorded a slight staff reduction at the begining of the year (1.78% in January-February), while no significant new hires were recorded in the following months.



5.4. Ratio of gross salary to total annual revenue and expenditure

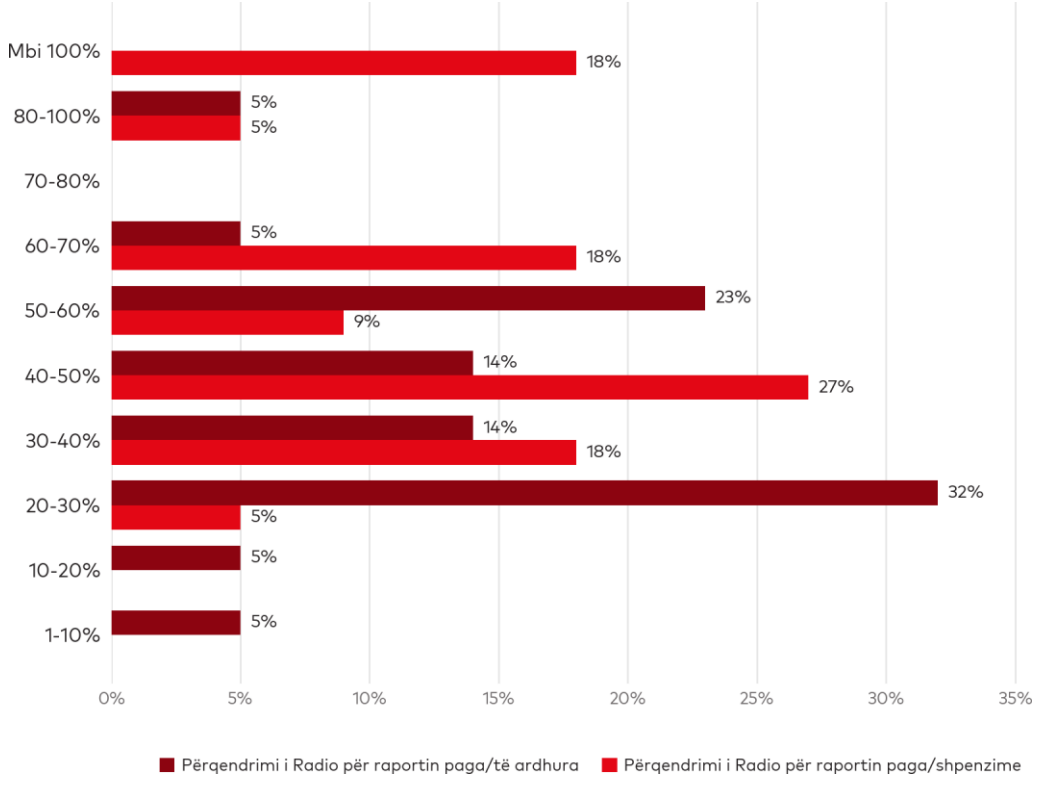
Ratio of gross salaries to revenues and expenses – Television Operators

- Television: Regarding the share of salaries in total expenses, 47% of television stations fall within the 50-70% range. As for the salary-to-revenue ratio, 27% of the entities fall within the 50-70% range, while 20% fall within the 30-40% range.



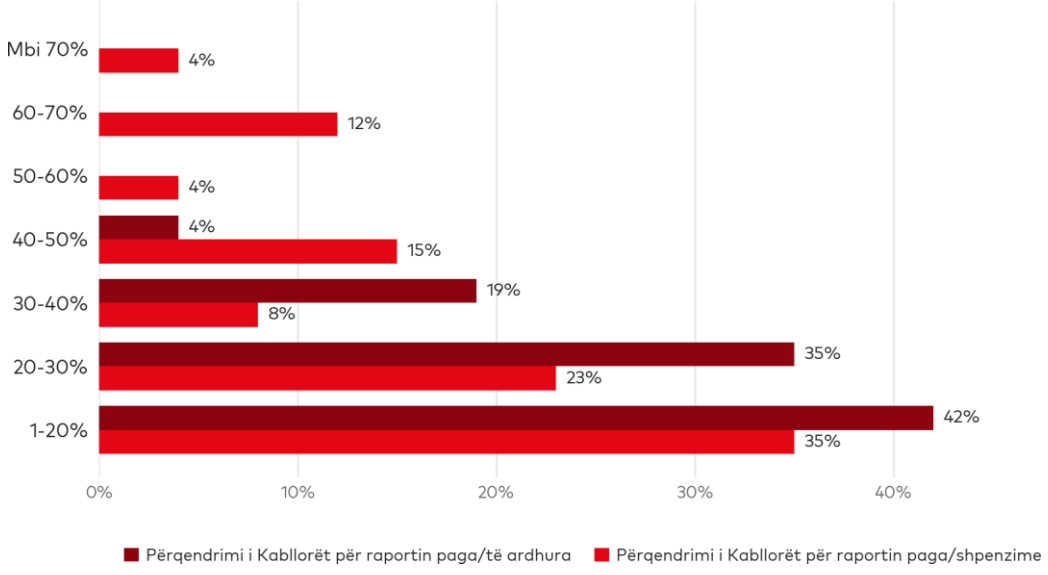
Ratio of gross salaries to revenues and expenses – Radio Operators

- Radio-s: Regarding the salary-to-revenue ratio, the highest concentration falls within the 20-30% range, accounting for 32% of radio stations. As for the salary-to-expenses ratio, 27% of radio stations fall within the 40-50% range.



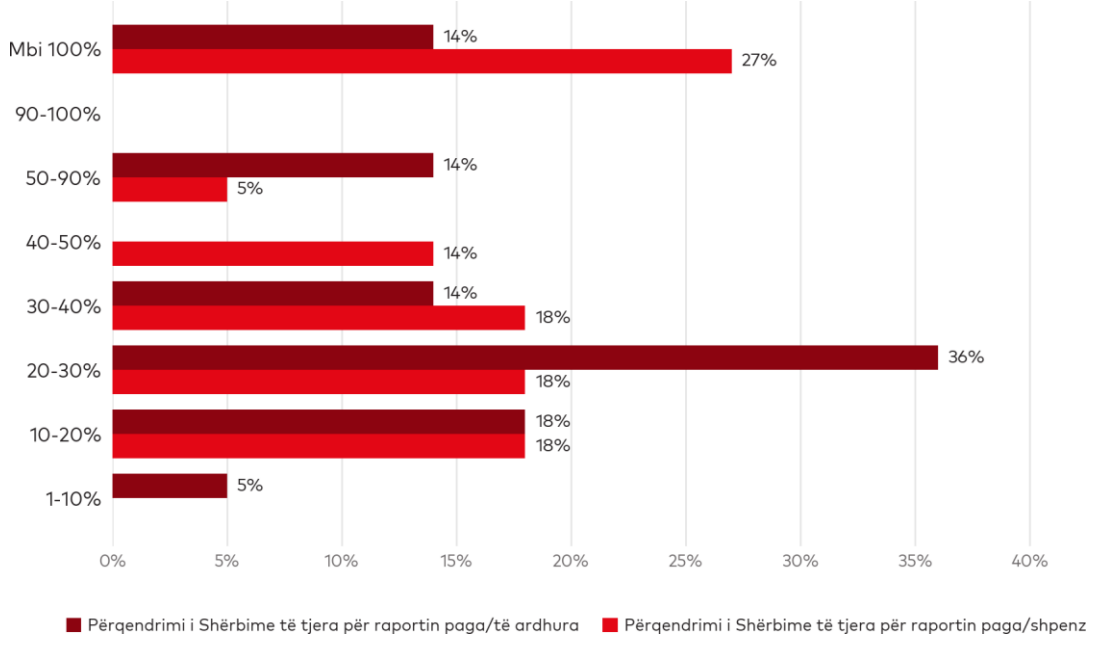
Ratio of gross salaries to revenues and expenses – Cable Operators

- Cable Operators: Salaries account for a smaller share of total costs: 42% of the entities have a salary-to-revenue ratio in the 1-20% range. Similarly, 35% of the entities have a salary-to expenses ratio within the 1-20% range.



Ratio of gross salaries to revenues and expenses – Other Services Operators

- Other Services Operators: 36% of the entities have a salary-to-revenue ratio in the 20-30% range. Meanwhile, regarding the salary-to-expenses ratio, 27% of the entities report a particularly high share, with this ratio exceeding 100%.



IV. Technical indicators of AVMSPs' broadcasting

6. Frequency Spectrum Planning and Management

During 2025, the Frequency Planning and ICT Directorate (DFPICT) of the Audiovisual Media Authority continued its work on the management and planning of the audio and audiovisual frequency spectrum, with the aim of ensuring the efficient use of the radio spectrum and supporting the development of broadcasting services in the Republic of Albania.

One of the most significant developments during the year was the upgrade of the HTZ Communications Frequency Management System, which serves as the main technical platform used by the AMA for planning, simulating, and analysing audio and audiovisual broadcasting networks. The new version of the system introduced substantial improvements in radio coverage modelling, interference analysis, frequency database management, and the planning of DAB+ and DVB-T2 digital networks. Furthermore, the system enables the use of the latest propagation models in accordance with ITU-R recommendations, as well as advanced integration with geographic systems (GIS) for the territorial analysis of coverage.

As part of frequency planning for digital audiovisual broadcasting, the DFPICT prepared and structured the technical documentation for all national DVB-T2 networks. This included the technical parameters of transmission sites, transmission power levels, geograpical coordinates, antenna characteristics, and other technical elements required for their registration and publication on the International Telecommunication Union's (ITU) international TerraNotices platform.

Regarding the FM band (88-108 MHz), the DFPICT continued the coordination process under the GE84 Agreement for analogue audio broadcasting, managing frequency coordination requests published in the BR IFIC and conducting detailed radio compatibility analyses. In this context, ongoing technical exchanges were held with the counterpart administrations of Greece, North Macedonia, Bosnia and Herzegovina, and Bulgaria to ensure the harmonised use of frequency and prevent cross-border interference.

Based on the analysis conducted on FM spectrum occupancy and radio coverage studies, during 2025, the technical procedures were carried out for the renewal of 6 analogue audio broadcasting licences, the expansion of the licensed coverage area for 1 broadcasting entity, and the revision of the technical parameters of several transmitting stations to optimise coverage and improve service quality.

7. Release of the Digital Dividend II (DD2) Band

During 2025, the DFPICT continued its involvement in the process of clearing the 694-790 MHz frequency band (DD2), in line with European Union requirements, ITU recommendations, and national objectives for the development of broadband electronic communications networks.

As part of this process, the New UHF Digital Plan was finalised through close cooperatioon with the administrations of neighbouring countries and an extensive0 international coordination process. This plan enabled the retention of all 7 existing national digital terrestrial broadcasting networks in the Republic of Albania, ensuring the continuity of audiovisual services following the clearance of the 700 MHz band.

During the year, the AMA held a series of communications and consultation meetings with national audiovisual broadcasting operators and the Albanian Radio and Television (RTSH) regarding the draft law “On the Clearance of Second Digital Dividend (DD2) Frequencies,” which was submitted for public consultation by the Ministry of Infrastructure and Energy. These meetings addressed the technical and financial aspects of the migration process, its impact on existing networks, and the methodology for financial compensation for operators affected by the frequency reallocation process.

Following a request from the Ministry of Infrastructure and Energy, the DFPICT undertook the process of collecting updated information on changes made to audiovisual operators’ transmission networks since 2022, with the aim of conducting a new assessment of the technical and financial impact of the migration process. To this end, the international expert who had contributed to the initial analyses of the European Union-funded project was engaged to ensure methodological continuity and alignment of the analysis with current market conditions and technological developments in recent years.

The DD2 clearance process remains one of the most important strategic projects in the audiovisual and electronic communications sectors, creating the conditions for the use of the 700 MHz band for LTE and 5G technologies, while contributing to the harmonisation of spectrum use with European Union countries.

8. Periodic Measurements and Monitoring of the Audio and Audiovisual Bands

Throughouut 2025, the DFPICT continued to conduct periodic monitoring of the audio and audiovisual frequency spectrum across the entire territory of the country, with the aim of overseeing spectrum usage, ensuring compliance with licensing conditions, and safeguarding broadcasting quality.

Monitoring activities were carried out both in the field and through the Centralised Frequency Monitoring System (CFMS), which comprises 12 fixed monitoring stations located in different regions of the country and a central control centre at AMA's premises.

These activities were aimed at:

- Verifying the compliance of technical transmission parameters with licensing conditions;
- Monitoring frequency usafe in accordance with the National Frequency Plan;
- Identifying unauthorised changes to technical transmission parameters;
- Monitoring signal quality and radio coverage;
- Identifying cases of interference and technical deviations.

During 2025, monitoring activities were carried out at 24 transmission sites operated by audio and audiovisual service providers. Following the analysis of measurement results and technical verifications, no cases of broadcasting in violation of the technical parameters specified in the respective licences were identified.

Furthermore, through continuous real-time monitoring of the FM band, DFPICT ensured ongoing oversight of the operation of audio broadcasting networks and compliance with the technical conditions governing frequency use throughout the territory of the Republic of Albania.

9. Interference Management and International Frequency Coordination

During 2025, DFPICT continued its involvement in international audio and audiovisual frequency coordination processes, actively participating in meetings of the Radio Spectrum Policy Group (RSPG) Subgroup and in regional meetings organised within the framework of the Adriatic-Ionian Agreement on DAB network planning.

As part of the coordination process for the VHF Band III spectrum for digital audio and audiovisual broadcasting, Albania achieved technical coordination of DAB channels with all neighbouring administrations, securing the allocation of three national DAB networks organised into 11 allotments and sub-allotment. In addition, the technical parameters of the transmitters were harmonised, and all the necessary technical characteristics were submitted for international coordination in accordance with ITU procedures.

At the same time, DFPICT addressed cross-border interference issues related to the clearance of the 700 MHz band, as reported by various European administrations. In cooperation with audiovisual service providers, corrective technical measures were implemented, including temporary frequency migrations, modifications to transmission parameters, and adjustments to antenna systems.

One of the most significant cases addressed during the year concerned the issue reported by the Greek administration regarding interference on Channel 41 caused by transmissions in southern Albania. Following technical analyses, field measurements, and the implementation of corrective measures, the issue was considered resolved, as confirmed during the latest meetings of the RSPG Subgroup.

Furthermore, in 2025, AMA continued its cooperation with the Polytechnic University of Tirana on the design of a DAB+ digital radio monitoring system, with the aim of ensuring continuous monitoring of the 174-230 MHz frequency band and overseeing the quality of future digital audio broadcasting services in the Republic of Albania.

10. Operation and Maintenance of Technological Infrastructure

During 2025, the Information and Communication Technology (ICT) Sector ensured the uninterrupted operation of the Audiovisual Media Authority's techological infrastructure, providing technical support for the institution's monitoring, regulatory, and administrative processes.

Activities focused on the management and maintenance of computer equipment, institutional servers, communication networks, audio and audiovisual monitoring systems, as well as the platforms and databases used by AMA's departments. Through continuous system monitoring and preventive interventions, the 24/7 operation of critical infrastructure was ensured, avoiding operational disruptions that could have affected the monitoring, archiving, and analysis of audiovisual broadcasts.

In parallel, the ICT Sector provided ongoing technical support to the institution's staff in the use of information systems, electronic communications, document management, and other technological services required for the normal functioning of AMA's operations.

11. Technological Support for Audiovisual Monitoring Processes

During 2025, a significant part of the ICT Sector's activities focused on providing technological support for audiovisual monitoring processes, which constitute one of the core functions of the Audiovisual Media Authority.

The ICT Sector ensured the reliable operation of the electronic systems used for the recording, storagem analysis, and verification of audio and audiovisual broadcasts, safeguarding the integrity, authenticity, and availability of the materials managed.

During the year, data storage capacities were managed, and ongoing measures were taken to optimise the performance of recording systems to accommodate the substantial volume of materials generated through audiovisual content monitoring, electoral processes, administrative verifications, and technical inspections conducted in the field.

This support enabled secure and controlled access to stored information, ensuring its use in verification processes, administrative investigations, and institutional decision-making.

12. Information Security and Cybersecurity

During 2025, the ICT Sector continued to strengthen measures for information security and cybersecurity protection of the systems of the Audiovisual Media Authority.

In this context, a structured process has been undertaken to develop and formalize information security policies in accordance with the applicable legislation on personal data protection and cybersecurity. The policies developed cover access credential management, physical and logical access control to information systems, electronic communications security, protection against malicious software, and security incident management.

Furthermore, measures have been implemented to ensure the continuous monitoring of systems and networks, the identification of potential risks, and the enhancement of the technological infrastructure's resilience to operational and cybersecurity incidents.

The implementation of these policies and procedures has contributed to ensuring the confidentiality, integrity, and availability of institutional information, as well as to enhancing the security of the AMA technological assets.

13. Technical Support for the Licensing and Oversight Processes of AVMSPs

During 2025, the ICT Sector provided specialized technical support for the licensing, authorization, registration, and oversight processes of audiovisual media service providers (AVMSPs).

As part of these processes, technical assessments were carried out of the documentation submitted by applicants, focusing on verifying the compliance of technical infrastructure, broadcasting equipment, and signal distribution systems with the requirements of the applicable regulatory framework.

During the reporting year, the Sector supported the procedures for:

- The granting of authorizations to 14 entities
- The renewal of authorizations for 23 entities
- The expansion or reduction of the service provision area for 5 entities

The technical assessment process included the analysis of signal distribution network architectures, verification of the technical parameters of transmission systems, assessment of technological security measures, and evaluation of the operational capacities of applicant entities.

In cases where deficiencies or the need for additional clarification were identified supplementary technical documentation was requested and further verifications were carried out, including on-site inspections. All findings were documented in technical reports and opinions, which served as the basis for the administrative procedures and decision-making processes of the Audiovisual Media Authority.

Through these activities, the ICT Sector has contributed to ensuring the stable functioning of the audiovisual market, supporting regulatory processes, and strenghtening the institutional capacities of the AMA in the field of information and communication technology.
